TAKE ACTION - RIGHT HERE, RIGHT NOW.

Making key decisions about your business in real time can be difficult, especially without the right tools. Do you know how your business is performing – right now? How are your servers performing during their shift – not just after they're done? How can you really be present on the floor, if you're tied up in the back-office?

With Avero Right Now, you can manage your business anytime, anywhere. Get key performance insights across your business in an easy-to-use format in real time. Now, you can confidently make data-backed decisions on the fly, while on the floor with your guests, in the kitchen with your staff, or even at home with your family.

“It was challenging and time consuming to leave the floor, run to the POS terminal, pull sales reports, and text our partners, but now we use Avero Right Now to instantly check sales peaks and troughs at any given moment. I use it religiously because it allows me to still focus on service and be present on the floor.”

THE SALVATION TACO CASE STUDY

Mariana Ross, Salvation Taco's General Manager, was looking for a fun and engaging way to drive average check at her restaurant.

Mariana used Avero's real-time mobile application to set daily goals for her servers and motivated them to push a few extra menu items per cover. Using Avero Right Now to track success, she could see how many of each item her servers sold, and compare their nightly sales to their historical averages in Avero.

Mariana found these daily goals to be a fun way to boost average check. By setting attainable goals in real time, Mariana saw each of her 9 servers per shift make an additional $60 per day, leading to an additional $197,000+ in sales per year!
